After graduating from the University of Idaho in 2000, Kevin C. Grant became a part of the Dowling Aaron family as an associate. In 2006, Mr. Grant became a partner of the Transactions & Entity Formation Department and he currently serves on the Executive Committee.

Kevin integrates his diverse and wide-ranging skills into his corporate, business and real estate practice. Kevin's practice generally focuses on a variety of corporate matters, including entity formations, real estate transactions and general tax analysis and planning in connection with all types of corporate, securities, commercial transactions and business operations.

The main focus of Mr. Grant's practice includes mergers, acquisitions, asset and stock purchases, joint ventures, restricted stock and other incentive programs for key executive and employees. Kevin has assisted over 50 insurance companies, small and large, with the sale of their companies.

"I like being able to look at issues from a business practical standpoint and help people as efficiently as I can when they have business issues. I try to be as business friendly or business practical as I can be to help people solve their legal issues."

Away from the office, Kevin enjoys spending time with his family and staying active by participating in various community events.
